Conflict

Sir.—In your leading article, entitled "Doctors' Plebiscite," published in your issue of February 20th, you say, of the British National Health Service Act, "A similar system has long been operating in New Zealand, and has been tremendously popular and successful. There is no reason why... equal success should not attend its (the British scheme's) introduction in Britain."

You will not deny your readers, the pleasure of saying to themselves, "Audi vimus alteram partem." Let them, then, read this account which was recently published, in one of the world's leading medical journals, by Sir Ernest Graham Little, dermatologist, member of Parliament, and well known as a writer on medical politics.

"This system, was in New Zealand... instituted by the Labour Government and has been in operation for ten years. Since the war the system has been fully reviewed in the House of Representatives, and almost universal dissatisfaction with it has been expressed. The complaint was made that it is common practice for physicians operating the health services to undertake treatment of an impossible number of patients and to rush them through at the rate of 1 every five minutes. If the diagnosis is not conclusive the patients are sent to the public hospitals, which are consequently filled with trivial cases, crowding out serious cases. The prime minister, who had a large part in founding the scheme, was so shaken by the evidence that he said: 'If patients are being treated like sheep passing through a dip, without proper overhead, the matter should be investigated.' In a subsequent debate the minister of health admitted that the abuses of the system were such that the Government must seriously consider altering it."

"Other criticisms have been made. For instance it is contended that while state doctors draw extravagant incomes from the social security fund, it is extremely difficult to secure any medical attention outside business hours or during the week end. There is said to be a definite falling off in the standard of medical practice, from both the ethical and the clinical points of view. The absence of incentive to undertake the prolonged training to qualify for the status of specialist has resulted in a serious dearth of skilled physicians and surgeons and consequent discouragement of both medical research and postgraduate study."

"The New Zealand Prime Minister admits that this scheme may have caused patients to be treated like sheep being passed through a sheep dip, and the New Zealand Minister of Health admits that the abuses of the system are such that the Government must seriously consider altering it. But you, without giving any supporting evidence, state, dogmatically, that the New Zealand scheme has been 'tremendously popular and successful.'"

I suggest that your readers be now allowed to draw their own conclusions.

Criminal Libel

Sir.—The maliciously anti-British attitude of a section of the Chinese Press in Hong Kong was undoubtedly largely responsible for the mob outrage at Shamone, when British official and commercial properties were looted and burnt. It was commented on in the case of the "National Times" (which it is understood receives a subsidy from the Kuomintang, the predominant Party in the Chinese Government) (and whose publisher is stated to be a member of the Central Executive Committee of that Party) in the British Government's Note to Nanking. But no steps have been taken to cope with the malicious defamation of the Hong Kong Government by local Chinese journals.

A case in point is the "Sing Tao Wan Pao" (which I understand belongs to Mr. Au Boon-haw) which on Feb. 14 asserted that the Walled City of Kowloon together with the family of Chu Pui-tong, visited Chu Pui-tong and Lau Ngai-fu in Stanley Prison yesterday morning, they noted that Lau had been beaten up, causing a swollen face, and that Chu has on several occasions vomited blood.

An official denial that either prisoner had been beaten up or was vomiting blood, was published a few days later, with the result that another journal, the "Wah Shing Pao" on the 20th instant, headed this denial "Got Fat or Got Swollen?" and complained that "their original body weights had not been mentioned."

Both these statements are serious libels on the local Chinese Press to malign and defame the British authorities. It has been held that an indictment for Criminal Libel can lie where a class (not indefinite) such as "the clergy of the Diocese of Durham" or "the Justices of the Peace for the County of Middlesex" has been defamed. In this case it can hardly be denied that the Commissioner and staff of Stanley Prison have been seriously libelled, and it would be a salutary lesson to the local Chinese Press if appropriate action were taken.

FIAT JUSTITIA.

ROBBED OF RIFLES

Two village guards on duty in the Ta Ku-ling district near the border had their rifles forcibly taken by a gang of armed men on Saturday night.

The gang numbering about 20 was seen approaching the post. In reply to a challenge by the guards to stop, some of the men produced revolvers and forced the guards to give up their rifles.

"Puss In Boots" Discharged

Ensign Kyukichi Suzuki, known to POWs on Hainan Island as "Puss in Boots," was discharged by No. 1 Australian War Crimes Court, which held that he had no case to answer.

The remaining 15 alleged Japanese war criminals, who are charged with war crimes committed on Hainan Island between Nov. 1942 and Aug. 1945, were found to have a case to answer and will give evidence, on oath, in their own defence.

No. 1 Australian War Crimes Court, before which the trial is taking place, comprises Lieut. Col. H. G. Guinn, DSO, E.D. (President), Lieut. Col. J. I. Brock (Judge Advocate), with Major N. McLeod and Lieut. R. Carter sitting as Members.

Major Grant McIntyre, Australian Division, SCAP (GHQ), Tokyo, is conducting the prosecution.

Isao Itoue with Major J. Sostek, Advisory Officer, is appearing for the defence.

In his opening address for the defence, Isao Itoue said that at the end of 1945, all shipping from Japan had been sunk and owing to hunger, all members of the Japanese unit became so weak that they could no longer work. When the war ended in Aug. 1945, it was like lightning from a clear sky, not only to the POWs, but to the Japanese. The end of the war meant escape from death. The whole island was at that time on starvation rations.

The first accused to enter the witnesses box was Vice Admiral Tahara Suzuki, who said that in 1944, British and American submarines became so active that all Japanese shipping here in the Hainan area had been sunk.

Hearing will be resumed at 9.30 a.m. tomorrow.

Iron Ore From Hainan

Shanghai, Feb. 22. Two hundred and fifty thousand tons of iron ore will be shipped from Xueing Harbour, Hainan Island, during the next six months. Four large Chinese shipping firms have contracted to haul the vital ore to Japanese ports. — Associated Press.

Colony Responds To Warm Weather

For the last two weeks the weather has betrayed symptoms, somewhat heralding the approach of Spring.

The mercury has been rising in the scale, reaching peak temperature yesterday at 71.8 degrees (Saturday 78.3). This has come shortly after a cold spell, the coldest of the winter, when 38.8, the lowest temperature for January since 1917 was registered.

Sky Merchant Arriving

The Atlas Sky Merchant, carrying ten American businessmen on a world marketing survey, is scheduled to land at Kai Tak on Wednesday.

Meeting the four-engine DC-4 when it lands at approximately two o'clock, will be local executives of the Standard-Vacuum Oil Co., associate of the firm sponsoring the history-making flight.

Carrying the latest up-to-the-minute aviation devices, the Atlas Sky Merchant has on board a complete display of Atlas automotive and aviation products. Mr. F. H. Bedford, Jr., President of the Atlas Supply Co., chose this novel way of introducing his Company's products to the world, as well as becoming acquainted with businessmen in Hong Kong.

During the Atlas Sky Merchant's stay in Hong Kong, Mr. Bedford and the other American business representatives will meet Hong Kong business leaders.

The plane leaves for Shanghai on Friday, and will also visit Nanking and Peiping before proceeding to Tokyo on March 4.

American business representatives arriving on the plane, in addition to Mr. Bedford, include: J. E. Perlenheimer, Vice-President and General Manager; R. B. Holgate, Export Manager; and J. J. Hall, Director of Public Relations, Atlas Supply Co.

E. E. Aldrin, Aviation Technical Manager of Atlas; D. C. James of Stencel, Inc., British affiliate of Stencel, Inc., and Stanley Kammerick, Atlas Representative in the Far East. D. F. Davis, Public Relations; E. C. Heberlein, Process Products, Specialties and Liquefied Petroleum Gas, Standard-Vacuum Oil Co. L. E. Brown, Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey.

RITA HAYWORTH OFFENDS

Madrid, Feb. 22. Two Capuchin priests resigned today as the Church representatives on the Motion Picture Board after a Catholic Youth Organisation had raided movie houses, throwing a Rita Hayworth picture out of the windows.

The picture was one of the greatest box office successes here in many years but was objected to by Catholics because of Miss Hayworth's dances. — United Press.

THE WHISKERS CLUB

At the Whiskers Club, the man with the large mustache is the star attraction. He is a member of the club and is always ready to help a fellow member. The club is open to all men who are interested in the game of golf. The club is located at 123 Main Street, and is open from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. every day. The club has a large clubhouse with a bar and a dining room. The club also has a golf course and a driving range. The club is a great place for men to relax and enjoy the game of golf.

TRADE ARBITRATION New Body Set Up In Shanghai Americans Taking Keen Interest

Shanghai, Feb. 22. In addition to settling amicably trade disputes among Chinese merchants, the China National Trade Arbitration Association, which was inaugurated here yesterday afternoon at a meeting attended by 60 leading personalities here (including representatives of the American Consulate General and Chamber of Commerce) will also attempt to iron out differences between Chinese and American businessmen, it was learned today.

In a brief speech explaining the purpose of the body, Dr. Kin Wei-sha, Secretary of the Association, said that as early as October, 1946, the United States Government had suggested that a Sino-American trade arbitration committee be established to settle trade disputes.

Dr. Kin declared "the significance of this Association is not only national but also international," as it, together with American arbitration organizations, will set up a joint association for the peaceful settlement of differences among the businessmen of the two nations.

Practically all classes of local trade and industrial circles were represented at the convention yesterday while official guests included Mr. Bland Calder, American Commercial Attaché, and Mr. Robert Bryan, representative of the local American Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Calder praised the formation of the new organization which, he said, would go a long way towards the promotion of international business and goodwill. He pledged the wholehearted support of the United States authorities for the Association. — Reuter.

Fate's Tricks

Chan Tai-mui is a 26-year-old married woman who assisted in her husband's efforts to maintain the family by hawking vegetables at Saiyungchui Street, Mong Kok.

She knows nothing of ante-natal examinations. It is to be doubted that she would be interested, even if she knew, for her life was one round of hawking from day to day.

Between 10 a.m. and 11 a.m. yesterday, she was on her usual pitch when a Hawker's Squad came on the scene and took her, with several others, into custody.

Soon after her arrival at Mong Kok Police Station, Chan Tai-mui complained of pain. She was immediately rushed to Kowloon Hospital and admitted to the Maternity Ward.

Her baby will be born amid the clean and hygienic surroundings of a comparatively modern hospital, and not in the squalid atmosphere of a Chinese tenement.

ST. JOSEPH'S DANCE

An enjoyable evening's assured at the Club Lusitano tomorrow (Tuesday) when the St. Joseph's Football Club will be holding their dance.

Self-Styled Nephew Of Gandhi

Lis Crüces, N.M. Feb. 21. A self-styled nephew of the late Mahandas K. Gandhi said today he would end his announced 32-day fast here tomorrow—11 days short of his goal.

Mohammed Kefel Den, 47, who claims that Gandhi's wife is his aunt, explained he became too weak to work, with the result he was forced to end his fast. He said he has not touched food or drink other than water since Gandhi started his fast last January 23.

Den asserted he lost 19 lb. in 21 days and now weighs 136 lb. He began the fast through loyalty to Gandhi's ideals.—United Press.

TRADE ACCORD

Paris, Feb. 21. A commercial protocol, valid for six months and providing for the interchange of products between Italy and the French occupation zone in Germany was signed here today. Italy will send to France vegetables and industrial and agricultural products and receive from France iron, wood, chemicals and machinery. — Reuter.

MANY PEOPLE OFTEN SUFFER from EXCESS

STOMACH ACIDITY

Get the quick relief you want with the Alkalizer you need.

ALKA SELTZER

Eating a heavy meal when you are worried or after you work too hard, may build up an excess acid condition in your stomach. You feel upset, sometimes sickish, often with a slight headache. That's when you should take Alka-Seltzer. It gives the quick relief from pain you want and helps to alkalize your stomach.

The Modern Way to Relief

This modern, effective formula now combines in tablet form medicines which for many years doctors have prescribed separately. Just drop one or two Alka-Seltzer tablets in a glass of water. Drink it slowly how quickly it brings relief, makes you feel better. 25,000,000 people have tried and proved Alka-Seltzer. They say there's nothing like it! You'll agree when you try it. Use Alka-Seltzer! Not a laxative.

WHERE ARE HALF A BILLION DOLLARS?

Washington, Feb. 21.

A Chinese puzzle has both the United States and Chinese Governments worried: Where is the hiding place of a half a billion dollars or more which individual Chinese are believed to have laid away in the United States?

If the money could be located, it might lighten the prospective Chinese relief load which the United States has been asked to shoulder. President Truman has asked Congress for US$570,000,000 in economic assistance for Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's Government. But proposals to locate the funds and hand over control of them to Chiang's Government have run into such complications that the prospect is hopeless for the present.

Government financial officials said the chance of getting the individual hoards appears even dimmer than the outlook for cashing in private assets of the 16 Western European countries figuring in the Marshall Plan.

Bank Deposits

The State Department told Congress yesterday that private Chinese holdings here amount to US$500,000,000 or more.

Some US$30,000,000 is in American bank deposits, listed in the names of persons living in China, the Treasury estimates. The names are confidential but are reported to include some highly placed Chinese politicians.

Larger sums are believed by Treasury and State Department officials to be in "cloak" accounts whose real owners are hidden. There also is currency, gold and securities.

The flight of capital from China has increased to jet-propelled speed as inflation gains momentum. A State Department report said that private holdings have mounted steadily since 1945, even while the Government's gold and silver reserves dwindled by US$600,000,000.—Associated Press.

China Internees' Grievance

Tientsin, Feb. 22.

The American Chamber of Commerce here said today that it intends asking Congress to amend or amplify the former Internees' Compensation Bill, which excludes Americans interned by the Japanese in China during the war.

The Chamber and representatives of former internees cabled the United States Ambassador, Dr. Leighton Stuart, at Nanking that the bill "discriminates against them unjustly in favour of internees in American-owned territory."

Asked if the State Department intends to sponsor a bill covering personal claims against Japan, they pointed out that prior to Pearl Harbour many Americans in China could not leave without a total loss of business interests.—United Press.

Abhaiwong Still Prime Minister

Bangkok, Feb. 21.

The Siamese Regency Council today nominated Khuang Abhaiwong as Premier—for the fourth time in his career. The formal announcement is expected later today.

The new premier will call a session of both Houses of Parliament for Thursday. Huang first became Premier in July, 1944 but resigned after a year. His second premiership was in 1946 and lasted only 41 days.

In 1947 he was again appointed premier after Marshal Pibul Songkram's November coup d'état.

The new Cabinet is expected to be mainly unchanged, though Kuang declared this week that his selection would not be limited to members of his party or parliament; it would include anyone he thought capable and necessary in the country's present situation.—Reuter.

Santa Fe, N. M., Feb. 21. Major General Patrick J. Hurley, former U.S. Secretary of War and Ambassador to China, announced he will seek the Republican nomination for US Senator in New Mexico's June primaries.—Associated Press.

RAF "Polar Flight"

Kinross, Feb. 21.

Six aircraft of the RAF Polar flight, which took off from Iceland early today to fly within the Arctic circle on a special navigation course, landed at Kinross airfield tonight after an 11-hour battle with heavy winds and bad weather.

Some of them had been prevented from reaching the northernmost point intended, bleak little Bear Island, just south of Spitzbergen.

High winds and bad weather for the last 500 miles of the trip, with severe icing and bad radio conditions, made the approach in darkness to this Scottish airfield hazardous.

The arduous conditions of the flight, which the "Lancasters" have made in five days, took heavy toll of their navigational equipment in the machines. Consequently, several aircraft were without these vital aids during the difficult last hours of the flight.

One In Trouble

One machine had to remain behind in Iceland this morning owing to electrical trouble. It is expected to fly back to England tomorrow.

Seven "Lancasters" left Iceland at midnight last Monday for a circular tour of the Atlantic from Gibraltar to Bear Island to study new methods of navigation as applied to mass flight.—Reuter.

Political Expediency

San Francisco, Feb. 21. The "San Francisco Chronicle" in an editorial headed "China and the 48 Campaign"—for President—said today:—

"We have the unhappy picture of Republicans exploiting China as a logical vulnerable point in Administration foreign policy, and a President bowing to political expediency by doing something about China, and neither side as yet giving any evidence of thinking the China problem through."

"The American people, who are infinitely more concerned with the preservation of world peace than with the identity of the White House occupant for the next four years, should demand something better from the responsible heads of both parties."—United Press.

Political Initiative Passes To Right

Frankfurt, Feb. 21.

The initiative in politics in the Anglo-American zones of Germany appears to have passed to the extreme Right-wing for the first time since the collapse of Hitler's Third Reich, (writes Robert Lloyd, Reuter's correspondent).

On the eve of the first plenary session of the enlarged Economic Council for the joint zones, challenging anti-Allied speeches by Pastor Niemöller and Dr. Johannes Semmler, ex-Director of the Bizonal Economic Department, and Herr Fritz Schaeffer, ex-Premier of Bavaria, have caught the interest of the German man-in-the-street.

The moderates of the official Christian Democratic leadership are almost unknown to a wider public; the Social Democrats have lost their drive, and even the meetings of Dr. Kurt Schumacher, Social Democratic leader, now attract chiefly the faithful.

Communist propaganda for a People's Congress for a united Germany arouses hardly a flicker of interest here.

Loss Of Respect

The loss of respect for the Allied authority is largely due to the development of inter-Allied conflicts and the charges and counter-charges made in the course of it.

The recent American and Russian publications about prewar negotiations with Hitler have been eagerly lapped up by German nationalists as proof that everybody shared Hitler's guilt and there is no moral difference between the Powers.

Fall Of Anshan Admitted

Shanghai, Feb. 22.

With the steel city of Anshan, whose fall the Government confirmed tonight, firmly in his hands, General Lin Piao, the Communist Commander-in-Chief in Manchuria, is rushing preparations for an early all-out bid to capture Chinchow, key city in the southwestern Manchurian corridor 130 miles southwest of Mukden, according to independent reports reaching here today.

General Lin Piao is said to have already massed a large force near Kowpangtsie, a railway town only 30 miles northeast of Chinchow, with the apparent aim of forcing a crossing of the Talinno River—the natural defence barrier guarding the approaches to the strategic city.

Meanwhile, he has already ordered the Communist forces under General Li Yung-chang, operating along the Peking-Mukden railway between the Great Wall city of Shanhai-kwan and Chinchow, to begin moving against the rear of the Nationalists.

The battle for Chinchow is expected to produce the bloodiest fighting hitherto of the civil war as the Nationalists, on their side, have concentrated the majority of their crack troops for the struggle.

These include mechanized units of General Fan Han-chieh, the newly-appointed Governor of Chahar Province, whose mandate includes the reopening of communications between Mukden and Peking at whatever cost and who will therefore personally direct the defence of Chinchow.

As a diversionary operation General Lin Piao is expected to launch simultaneous operations in various parts of South Manchuria, where he is credited with having concentrated five divisions, or about 150,000 men.

Yingkow Reopened

At present, Government units are engaged in mopping-up operations in the environs of the seaport of Yingkow, where several Nationalist naval units are said to have arrived with welcome supplies in the wake of ice-breakers.

Pro-Government despatches report considerable excitement and jubilation over the news of the reopening of Yingkow Harbour in Mukden, where there is already talk of a large-scale landing of reinforcements for a major counter-offensive northward.

The Manchurian problem is expected to provide top-ranking Government military leaders in Nanking with a busy week as a score of older statesmen and veteran generals of the North East are scheduled to arrive in the capital today and tomorrow for conferences.

Veterans Called In

These include General Ma Chan-shan, who fought the Japanese to a standstill shortly after the "Mukden Incident" in 1932. General Wan Fu-lin and General Chang Tso-hsiang who have been living in retirement in Peking for the past few years.

The Government invitation to these veteran Manchurian leaders for a discussion on the critical North-East situation followed a recommendation from Mr. Mo Teh-hui, a State Counsellor who is also a Manchurian, who emphasised the relationship of the North-East to the peace of the world as a whole.

Fierce fighting was today reported to be raging, both at Fushun and Penki, respectively 30 miles northeast and 30 miles southeast of Mukden.—Reuter.

Recreio Beat R.A.F. At Hockey

In a friendly hockey game at Kai Tak Saturday Recreio beat Royal Air Force by two goals to one.

Play on the whole was scrappy and never reached the high standard seen in former games.
From the start, Recreio pressed and good defensive play by Gay and Swan stopped the lively Recreio forwards time and again.

Recreio came near scoring when, with Priestly out of goal, Gay saved on the line and cleared well to send the Air Force on the attack.

Connolly tried hard to get the R.A.F. forwards moving but they were too prone to bunch together in the middle.

Recreio backs played well and finally relieved the pressure and play was quickly swept to the R.A.F. goal mouth where Priestly did well to save from a flick by C. Gutierrez which was going just under the bar.

Aunra, receiving a pass on the Recreio 25, went through and shot but the shot was deflected by J. Connales and Connolly, gathering the ball from close,
in, made no mistake to put the Air Force ahead.

Three minutes later Recreio were on level terms when C.
Gutierrez flicked past Priestley.

Shortly after Recreio scored when a short corner was weakly cleared by the R.A.F. and Marques scored with the goalkeeper unsighted.

The second half opened with the R.A.F. attacking but their forwards hung on to the ball too long and Recreio backs had no difficulty in keeping them out.
A spell of midfield play followed after which Recreio took up the attack but their finishing was weak. Good passes from Xavier, on the left wing, went a-bogging and on one occasion he sent over a good pass which all the forwards missed.

The defence held the upper hand for the remainder of the game and there was no further scoring.

A BOFFIN COMES BACK TO TURN THAT TIDE

Sir Henry Tizard, chief of Britain's wartime Boffins and now appointed to discover why thousands of British workers produce only half as much as their American counterparts, talked last night about the first of his findings.

Already, in an off-record talk, Sir Henry, one of the world's great scientists, has told M.P.s that if British industry would adopt more scientific methods it could aim at a production target 50 per cent above the present output.

Last night he said: The general answer why some of our industries lag is because they have not kept up to date. In many of our factories and mills the managements are too conservative.

"Technologically the Americans have far outstripped us. Their factories are better planned; they are more ready to adopt new scientific ideas, and they make great use of highly trained efficiency experts."

"We are short of properly trained efficiency experts, and in any event many firms would expect it if it were suggested that they ought to call one in."

"Generally speaking, we are ahead of the Americans in science, but in the application of the latest scientific knowledge we are very behind."

Two Years Or Else...

Sir Henry with a "brains trust" of 15, the newly formed Committee on Industrial Productivity, has the job of showing British industry how to catch up, and perhaps pass, the Americans. "We've got to do it quickly, too," he says. "I've set a time limit of two years. If we haven't got results in that time we shall have failed."

Four panels of the committee are already at work examining:

(a) The human side, management worker relations, etc.

(b) Technological processes which means finding out where British industry goes wrong in matters of machinery, layout, and administrative efficiency;

(c) The possibilities of finding alternative raw materials and making economies in the material we use;

(d) Seeing that factory and workshop chiefs are kept supplied with the latest technical information.

The panels will go to factories, workshops, and mills, search out the weak spots, and then report to Mr. Herbert Morrison and Sir Stafford Cripps. The committee is advisory only. It has no authority to order industry to do anything. Its job is to report.

First industry to go under the committee's scientific microscope will be textile and clothing, because it has a vital export trade.

Says Sir Henry: "We have all made quickly and at the lowest cost. There isn't much time for British industry to step-up production and there isn't much money available. If we are to increase exports, costs have got to be cut."

"I feel sure industry will co-operate with us and afford us full facilities. Remember, our reports will not be published;

more efficient than small concerns."

"Often it is the smaller firms that set the pace, and that goes for the States too. It is wrong to assume that mass-production alone can cut costs."

Much waste is due to obsolete regulations. Sir Henry cited engineering projects. "Often regulations for, say, large buildings and bridges demand that constructional engineers use steel girders of much greater weight than is really necessary."

"The regulations about strength and stresses haven't kept up with the progress in the strengthening of steel with the result that there is prodigious waste."

Survival Survey

A special problem which worries Sir Henry is that many people, especially workers, believe that business streamlining means sackings.

His comment: "If industry as a whole does not increase output a whole lot of jobs will go for a very long time. Something has to be done, urgently."

Sir Henry Tizard is directing the "survey on survival" from his lofty, panelled office in the Ministry of Defence overlooking St. James's Park. He is also chairman of Britain's hush-hush Defence Committee.

Out-Of-Date Laws

Big and little firms will come under scrutiny. Sir Henry does not believe that large firms are the production data from the U.S. already to hand, and while it is true that in some industries the Americans have great advantages which account for their greater output—their coal is easier to get than ours—in other industries where we start about level they are still way ahead of us.

"But we don't need to go as far as the U.S. There are great output variations inside our own industries. Our job is to find out why and hope that the output plants will act on the recommendations we make."

"Most of all, we have to discover improvements that can be there'll be no 'black lists.' It would be better to publish 'white lists.'"

"And don't forget there are some progressive firms which have gone all out to be put to date, and they have made big increases in output. Mostly it has been done by managements and workers getting together and agreeing how processes can be speeded up and made more economical."

Big and little firms will come under scrutiny. Sir Henry does not believe that large firms are

'SELLING' THE CHURCH IN A BIG WAY

By Clifford Hulme

English Church leaders, worried about falling off of congregations, have been advised by their Special Commission, in a report published yesterday, to use almost every means of publicity to recreate an interest in religion.

Church leaders here thought of that a long time ago.

"Have you heard one of Sister Sylvia's annual, unincensored, evening sermons? Every Sunday night, Four Square Mission."

This is an actual advertisement from the Los Angeles Examiner and is typical of a score in that paper alone designed to lure folks to church.

National Campaign

Americans who are accustomed from childhood to advertisements about everything from accountancy to zinc pass that sort of without batting an eyelid. But now they face a new and vigorous incursion into the field of publicity aimed to sell the Kingdom of God in a really big way.

The 800,000 strong Knights of Columbus, after a promising localised trial spin, have launched a nation-wide magazine campaign to promote the Roman Catholic Church by modern sales techniques, including a "sign on the dotted line" offer of a free booklet.

While the other big denominations debate whether to wrestle for souls in the public prints, the advertising copyboys are brushing up their acquaintance with the Bible and the printers are dusting their Second Coming type. Religion looks like being good business.

Church Nurseries

Hitherto most of America's 256 religious bodies have relied on sober methods to draw into their 253,000 churches, tabernacles, and gospel halls the 78,500,000 members they claim, and as many of the backsliders as possible.

Their publicity mania has been a notice each Friday in the local paper of next Sunday's services.

One Washington paper each week carries 154 such advertisements, ranging in size from a single column inch to a group of notices of services in related churches. One cathedral took four inches across two columns.

Colour movies and a nursery during the service are two increasingly frequent "come-ons" resorted to by even the established churches.

The more blatant methods are left to the splinter groups, a befittingly wilder bunch of creeds, some with fantastic names.

more efficient than small concerns.

"Often it is the smaller firms that set the pace, and that goes for the States too. It is wrong to assume that mass-production alone can cut costs."

Much waste is due to obsolete regulations. Sir Henry cited engineering projects. "Often regulations for, say, large buildings and bridges demand that constructional engineers use steel girders of much greater weight than is really necessary."

Survival Survey

A special problem which worries Sir Henry is that many people, especially workers, believe that business streamlining means sackings.

His comment: "If industry as a whole does not increase output a whole lot of jobs will go for a very long time. Something has to be done, urgently."

Sir Henry Tizard is directing the "survey on survival" from his lofty, panelled office in the Ministry of Defence overlooking St. James's Park. He is also chairman of Britain's hush-hush Defence Committee.

"And don't forget there are some progressive firms which have gone all out to be put to date, and they have made big increases in output. Mostly it has been done by managements and workers getting together and agreeing how processes can be speeded up and made more economical."

DEATH

SILVA.-ON Sunday, February 15, 1948, at the St. Marie Hospital, Shanghai, Augusto Thiago Da Silva, aged 68 years, dearly-loved husband of Mrs. Julia Barretto Da Silva, father of Alzira, Joao, Gustavo, Marcus and Regina and grandfather of Reinaldo.

Mr. & Mrs. DAVID DRUMMOND

P.P.C. S.S. "Canada Mail"

"YEAR OF TEST"

Having broken all sorts of records in 1947, Britain is entering 1948 prepared for even more austerity than in 1947. As Sir Stafford Cripps has just put it, 1948 is to be a "year of test."

This challenging prospect seems paradoxical when viewed against industrial statistics. The explanation of the paradox is that Britain's war losses were so great, the setbacks she suffered as an international financier so devastating, the postwar price rise in things Britain needs has been so steep, that the gains in production and export in 1947 do not promise any quick solution of Britain's problems, but only indicate that there is a good chance of solving them in time, with sufficient effort.

Coal has been the most difficult hurdle. But miners have been working longer hours voluntarily. Mechanization programmes are taking shape. Exports of coal to the Continent began with the New Year, aiming at a 1948 target of 10,000,000 tons, with 15,000,000 the bull's-eye for '49. They will help to offset expected declines in some other lines.

When one puts the achievements of British workers beside their continuing sacrifices, one sees that for Britain the war is far from over. The Nazi ambition to reduce British power in the world had partial fulfillment in the economic level. Now Britain is fighting its way back. This is no mere chapter of competition with other countries for the world's trade but a gigantic job of economic salvage that will eventually do much to put all the world's trade on a better balance.

Trade Pact

If there are political overtones in the trade pact which Britain recently signed with Soviet Russia, the British do not seem to be conscious of them. Their foreign policy, they say, remains tied to the Marshall Plan, which the Soviet leaders are trying to wreck.

To be sure, the announcement of the agreement inspired an unusually enthusiastic demonstration in the House of Commons, which gave added hope to the Labour Party rebels, who have been pressing for a more lenient British policy toward Russia. It is apparent from London reports, however, that the British foresee no sudden improvement in Anglo-Russian political relations as a result of the new trade agreement.

What they mainly see is a 750,000-ton sack of grain which will help to feed pigs and poultry. This is in Russia's part of the bargain. Britain is to supply Russia with industrial equipment. The agreement is a short-term one, and has been arrived at only after protracted arguments about the rate of interest which Russia is to pay on debts to Britain contracted outside the Lend-Lease framework during the war. On this the Russians drove a hard bargain, and cut the rate from 3 to 1/2 of 1 per cent.

Britain will doubtless find the grain a more convertible form of currency than rubles would have been. It will help to make good for Britain, who

COCOA MAY DISAPPEAR IN 20 YEARS

By GLANVILLE CAREW

An item of news which will disturb many people, but which probably leaves still more folk completely unmoved, has just been given to us in a newspaper. It appears that an expert has said that cocoa may disappear altogether within the next 20 years. We gather that even now there is a more or less imminent danger of a shortage of cocoa.

It seems that a virus is attacking the trees in West Africa with the result that in the Gold Coast alone some millions of trees are out of health and may be dying.

Such news is indeed serious enough in itself but there is an addendum to it which is more than serious. We are told that "experts" do not know the nature of the virus and that, so far, they are "baffled"—which is so amazing that we can only be and trust that the experts are not attached to our Food, or Health, or any other Ministry. In this country we know that only the great detectives of Scotland Yard are ever "baffled"; experts never, or hardly ever.

Any way, research is going on but the virus has not yet been baptised even with initials, likely because the experts can't think of a name or a number for him. They will, of course, given time; they need not despair. A couple of hundred years ago, or earlier, a virus attacked people in east Anglia. The experts of the day apparently became so giddy while running around looking for a name to fit the stranger that they decided to call him, pro tem, Whirligigastouion, whereupon he vanished. Verb Sap.

Not Rationed

So far, cocoa has not been rationed at all and even in the worst times of general shortage of many things it has always been readily and plentifully obtainable in the stores by the public.

Even if the threatened shortage leads only to rationing it will be a serious deprivation to vast numbers of working families who rely upon it less as a grateful and comforting beverage than as a nourishing item of their household catering.

We cannot afford to lose any more sustaining items, fluid or solid, from our domestic bills of fare but we are nervously conscious that when such pieces of news somehow creep into news paragraphs they often merely foreshadow official intentions and we speculate whether and just how long it will be before cocoa joins the list of rationed or even vanished things.

So we shall see what we shall see. Meanwhile consumers of cocoa can reflect complacently that their favourite beverage has always been a highly respectable one and innocuous, and in the eyes of some, even a symbol of good-goody tendencies. Not all of them will care to recall, or will even know, that in the 18th Century there was a passing and wholly groundless fear that cocoa possessed certain aphrodisiac qualities which might insidiously sap morals of our young women—especially of the servant class.

Cocoa-Binge

Evil thoughts have never been inspired, nor have any next morning headaches been induced by even the most prolonged and determined cocoa-binge. It is not recorded that there are serious after effects of over indulgence. It is true that an extremist in ardent liquors—(such for instance as Peter the Great whose ideal restorative is said to have been brandy generously laced with cayenne pepper) would hardly consider it inspiring and would certainly find it insipid, nevertheless it has never done any harm.

Curiously enough, cocoa, which was introduced into England in the days of the Puritans, when austerity was as it is now, the national motto, has always been associated with religious non-conformity. Even today the famous cocoa firms, whose names—Fry, Cadbury, Rowntree—are household words with us, are of fine old Quaker stock.

It must be admitted that cocoa does not tend to marked gaiety of spirit. Fancy—if we can—A Jewish drinking song like the "ritornel wine" translated into a rollicking roaring chorus of "Pour out the cocoa 'Let it flow 'Like a free - and running river..."

Sydney, January. Ned Kelly's Airline has scrounged its last piece of engine and "traded" for its final carton of American cigarettes along the 6,000 mile mail run from Melbourne, 38 degrees north.

Australian officials knew this line as the Royal Australian Air Force courier service to Japan. Twin-engined Dakotas from November, 1945, to early this January made 577 trips without one serious crash.

Boys flying the route and men along the way who relied on the Dakotas for their letters and frequently for their food, has a lot of other names for the service. It was one of those outfits that never had enough of anything—except guts.

"Ned Kelly's Airline" was the favourite term, and the friendliest. In case you don't know your Australia, Ned Kelly was an old-time bushranger whose name to succeeding generations has become a local synonym for cool cheek.

There was plenty of that in the Australians who planned the first flights to Japan, and in their brothers who did the flying.

Only aircraft available to fly mail to Australian troops going to help occupy conquered Japan were beaten-up Dakotas that had been on transport service during the Pacific war. North of Darwin was only one Australian-operated landing strip suitable for aircraft running to Japan. This was on Morotai Island in the Halmaheras, the Dutch-owned islands north-east of the Celebes. Beyond Morotai all airfields were under American control.

So pilots on early flights to Iwakuni, in Southern Honshu, that part of Japan handed over for occupation by British Commonwealth troops, literally had to talk their own way into landing rights, petrol, facilities, meals, spare parts and anything else needed on the long flight between Australia and Japan.

From Morotai the Australian survey flights looked into Tacloban on Leyte Island, where General Douglas MacArthur returned to the Philippines—and where men of the Royal Air Force Transport Command camped after flying from Australia in support of the British Pacific Fleet during the last months of the Japanese war. Soon the Australians found a more suitable overnight stop at U.S. Navy airfield on Samar Island, Laeag, on the northern tip of Luzon was a refuelling place and, in typhoon weather, an overnight stop. Naha, on Okinawa, and Iwakuni were the next fields. Last was Tachikawa, a former Japanese military field at Tokyo.

The Australians improved the route as they stepped up their service. Last year the only call in the Philippines was at Clark Field outside Manila. Actual flying time then had been cut to under 40 hours for press.

If you hold two four-card minor suits, one strong to top honours, and the other lacking any honours, with high honours in both majors, what should you do? The answer is: "Play the majors." This is a well-known principle of bridge, and it is one that should be remembered by all players.

HEED SUCH WARNING

Cross-Ruff bidding is just about the most emphatic warning that can be given against doubling the opponents' high contract. When they have shown a satisfactory fit in one suit and add each his bid another suit on the side, you should heed the news that the declarer probably can use his trumps, one at a time for ruffing purposes. It is extremely hazardous to double in such a situation unless you are in position to score tricks in the trump suit and thereby impede the ruffing process. Slide honours in your hand are likely to get ruffed, especially second-round honours like kings and queens.

South, however, won and then proceeded with a whole of a con-sult. He scored the heart A, ruffed the 7, scored the spade A, ruffed the 3, ruffed the heart 8, ruffed the spade 9, scored the club Q and J, and the established heart 10. At the end he gave up a diamond trick—no, however, to the doubler, but to West's A.

Aid To China Programme Pleases No One

Some Say "Pitifully Inadequate," Others
"Just A Waste Of Money"

Majority Are Confused

Washington, Feb. 21.
The first few days of the public press, official and Congressional discussion of the Administration's proposed $570,000,000 China aid programme have made it abundantly clear that one salient feature of the plan is that apparently it pleases no one.

Those who consistently have advocated aid to Chiang Kai-shek's government describe the plan as being, among other things, "pitifully inadequate." Some deplore the lack of military aid in the programme. Some complain over the absence of any effort to assist Chinese currency stabilization. Still others think that attention should be given to both these matters.

On the other hand, those who have consistently opposed aid to the Central government believe that the proposed programme will simply be a waste of money. They assert that since it will have no real effect in China, the funds should be diverted to other purposes or saved.

Observers find that persons who with "playing politics" and in- had no firmly preconceived ideas on whether or not the United States should aid China are thoroughly confused now by the debate touched off by the dis- closure of the plan.

President Truman's and Mr. George Marshall's statements concerning the plan are regarded here as very lukewarm and plainly indicative of the fact that the programme is being offered in response to Republican demands, and not because industrialization is believed particularly wise at this time.

This impression was documented further when Marshall frankly told the House Foreign Affairs Committee that if Congress could not consider the European and Chinese plans simultaneously, it should leave China as it is until it has passed the European bill.

This statement, made despite his admission that without United States aid there is a good possibility that the Chiang Government will collapse (thus giving the Communists control of all China), "in the face of the Yangtze" and jeopardizing the American position in Korea and Japan, does not help to dissipate confusion over the Administration's real sentiment on the matter.

Bewildering
On the other hand, proponents of greater aid to China are offering a bewildering variety of suggestions.

Chairman Charles Eaton, of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, wants the United States to go into China with an aid programme large enough to "handle the entire situation." Proponents of total aid to China have estimated that this would cost at least $1,500,000,000.

Representative Walter Judd and the "Washington Post," who see eye to eye on very few aspects of the China programme, are however, agreed that an attack should be made on China's currency problems through the programme to replace the present high inflated paper money by silver coins.

Columnist Constantine Brown, in the conservative "Evening Star," while not touching on the possibility of monetary stabilization aspects, comes out for military assistance to Generalissimo Chiang sufficient to enable him to defeat the Communists.

MacArthur
To add to the general uncertainty as to the trend which the debate on the China plan will take, the House Foreign Affairs Committee, during its first considerations of the plan, became bogged down in the dispute over whether or not to invite Gen. MacArthur to come to Washington to testify on the bill; this has been resolved by MacArthur's decision to remain in Japan.

Shafer Bill Introduced
Washington, Feb. 21.
Three U.S. Senators have introduced legislation designed to take the Government out of the synthetic rubber business as quickly as possible.

They would extend to July 1, 1950 the Government's power to allocate synthetic rubber, control inventories and specify synthetic uses but would confine these powers to tires and tubes.

The Shafer bill, which was approved by the House Armed Services Committee last Tuesday, would extend Federal controls indefinitely.

It also would allow the President to require the use of synthetic rubber products of any type.—Reuter.

1919 AIR MAIL STAMP

London, Feb. 21.
An envelope, bearing a Newfoundland air mail stamp, carried in an attempted flight from Newfoundland to England in 1919 will be auctioned in London Tuesday.

The aircraft crashed soon after taking off. The stamp is a three-cent issue over-printed by hand: "Aerial Atlantic Mail—J.R.R."—Reuter.

"Peace Production Board"

Washington, Feb. 21.
Mr. Eric Johnston, former President of the American Chamber of Commerce, today proposed to American bankers that they set up a "peace production board" within the Marshall Plan to ease the dumping of American dollar capital into Europe.

Mr. Johnston, now President of the Motion Picture Association of America and a director in a number of banks, made the proposal in a speech in Washington.

He said that this "peace production board" should pass on worthy private investments abroad by American banks. He proposed that the Marshall Plan legislation guarantee certain aspects of private American business activity in Europe, and the plan be strengthened and broadened to include his "peace production board."

"We all want the Marshall Plan to be a springboard for Europe, instead of a wheelchair. We do not want it to begin as a handout and run on from year to year as a dole. That is what may happen unless we in private business in this country put some kindling-wood in the hearth of private business over there," Mr. Johnston said.—Reuter.

British Husbands' Proposal

London, Feb. 21.
The news that Mrs. Ima Price, one of the Soviet wives in Moscow is seeking a divorce from her British husband has spurred other British husbands to further activity.

They have approached the Foreign Office and are awaiting a decision on the suggestion that equality of visas be enforced between Britain and Russia.

The Foreign Secretary, Mr. Ernest Bevin, has had this proposal before him since the House of Lords debate on January 22.

The husbands are organising, with the assistance of the Manchester Liberal Party, a protest meeting to be held in Manchester next Thursday, when last year's Lord Mayor of Manchester will preside.—Reuter.

SEQUEL TO STRIKE

Brussels, Feb. 21.
About a thousand Brussels postmen, who staged an unofficial lightning strike last Saturday and were dismissed by the Government, will be re-admitted to the service except for a few directly responsible for the strike. M. Achille van Acker, Minister of Communications and acting Minister of Labour, announced today.

M. van Acker also said that the gas and electricity workers, who downed tools last week but resumed work following Government and trade union appeals, had been granted today the five per cent "good attendance" bonus they claimed.—Reuter.

EXHORBITANT SOVIET DEMANDS ON AUSTRIAN ECONOMY

London, Feb. 21.

The British, French and United States representatives at today's meeting of the Austrian Deputies of the Big Four made it clear that they considered the latest Soviet claims about German assets in Austria greatly exceeded Austria's capacity to pay.

Continuing their study of Austria's economy, the deputies discussed Soviet proposals about the Danube Shipping Company, cash payment in compensation for miscellaneous German assets; and concession rights for oil extraction.

Mr. James Majoribanks (Britain), commenting on the Soviet claim that Austria should transfer to the Soviet Union within two years $200,000,000 in freely convertible currency stated:

"I am at a loss to understand how the Soviet delegation thinks that Austrian economy can produce the enormous sum required, all in the space of two years."

Mr. H.V. Kottimov, the Soviet deputy, argued that Austria could find a lump sum for transfer since she would receive all the German assets to which the Soviet Union was renouncing its claims.

Mr. Samuel Reber, the United States delegate, replied that the German assets which Austria would inherit would be acquired as an internal property, while the claim due to the Soviet Union would have to be transferred abroad.

The British, French and United States deputies failed to secure from Mr. Kottimov any specific statement on which assets would be covered by the Soviet claim to 25 per cent of the assets in all Austria of the Danube Shipping Company.

They also failed to clarify the effect of the Soviet claim to all production concession rights.

The deputies adjourned until next Tuesday.—Reuter.

Exorbitant

The western deputies of the Big Four Foreign Ministers today told Russia that they will not accept any Austrian peace treaty which called for exorbitant payments.

The United States deputy, Samuel Reber, criticising the Soviet demand for heavy compensation for "German assets" in Austria, said that any treaty claims must be within Austria's ability to pay in order to sustain the Allied promises to make Austria economically independent.

The Soviet demand in the form of a proposed Four Power agreement of settling Allied

Definition Wanted By Correspondents

Washington, Feb. 21.

The "Baltimore Sun" today called for an investigation by an impartial agent of the charges made by American correspondents in Japan that those newsmen who displease General MacArthur's regime are penalized.

Allied correspondents in Tokyo on Wednesday issued a statement accusing the occupation officials of having frequently attempted, under the guise of military security, to impose "air-tight censorship" at the source, despite guarantees against censorship by General MacArthur.

The called for a clear definition of peace-time security and for action to prevent officials trying to withhold non-military information "by the use of threats, intimidation and coercion."—Reuter.

Russian Request Rejected

Stockholm, Feb. 21.

Russia has asked Sweden to arrest and deport to Russia a 19-year-old Estonian stewardess, Daisy Umnova, who escaped from an Estonian ship at Karlshamn, south Sweden.

It is believed that Sweden will reject the request as the Allens Commission has already granted the girl a residence permit.

After going into hiding when her ship docked at Karlshamn, she told interviewers that every Soviet ship carried a political officer, who gave daily political lectures, at which the crew's attendance was compulsory.

In foreign ports, she said, the seamen were forbidden to drink, accept the smallest gifts or buy any local literature.—Reuter.

U.S. Rejects Soviet Protest On Talks

Washington, Feb. 21.

The United States today rejected a Russian protest against a forthcoming American-British-French meeting to organize the economy of Western Germany. America blamed Russian policies for making the step necessary.

Under Secretary of State Robert Lovett sent a note to Soviet Ambassador Alexander Panushkin declaring that "the failure of the Soviet Government to observe the principles of economic unity" in Germany "compels the other three powers to organize the German economy in the interests of both German and European recovery." The note was worded with unusual bluntness.

Lovett told Panushkin flatly that Russia's protest against the three-power meeting which opens in London on Monday "can only be construed as an effort to shift the responsibility

Unacceptable

Russia interprets that as requiring all German national problems to be handled jointly by all four of the occupying powers.

Russia has said that it would regard as unacceptable any decisions reached by the London conference.

The aim of the London meeting is to try to provide a maximum of cooperation between the already merged British-American zones of Germany and the French zone. The ultimate aim is unification of all Western Germany as one of the bases for the European recovery programme.—Associated Press.

Pollitt Blames It All On Labour Govt.

London, Feb. 21.

Harry Pollitt, General Secretary of the British Communist Party, urged today that Mr. Attlee's Socialist Government be replaced with "a new Labour Government of the Left."

Britain's economic crisis is "the result of the reactionary policy of the Right Wing leaders of the Labour Government," Pollitt told the Party's National Congress.

"Everything depends on how rapidly the Left in the Labour movement moves into action," he said. Pollitt said the Marshall Plan "economically takes away more than it gives, and politically is a menace to national independence and the peace of the world."

He asserted the British Government has followed a policy of "surrender to American economic and political dictation," and asked: "American Imperialism."

"Shall Britain go down in a deepening decline of bankruptcy, will lowered standards, at the mercy of American dictation and with the final prospect of serving as an air-craft carrier of American imperialism in a new world war?"

"Or will the United progressive forces of the Labour movement act in time to compel a radical change of policy, both abroad and at home, to save Britain?"—Associated Press.

The Second Battalion of the Somerset Light Infantry arrives here on Monday from Austria, where they have been stationed for one year.

The battalion served with the 43rd Infantry Division in North Africa and crossed with it to Italy in 1944. They fought in the battle for Cassino and took part in the pursuit of the enemy to the River Arno. Afterwards the battalion was in action against rebels in Greece.

The First Battalion leaves Bombay for home on February 28.—Reuter.

'SELLING' THE CHURCH IN A BIG WAY

In his neon-lighted church, a few blocks from my office, Elder Michaux shouts out the Devil regularly and his choir sings "Happy am I" over the radio.

Church statistics show that whereas half a century ago only one American in five was a church member, now the percentage is a record 52%. Churchmen will claim that much of this increase is due to their efforts, but the growth of the population and the drift to the towns have been factors.

Of actual attendance at services there are no reliable figures, but one suspects that an impressive proportion of the nominally faithful are finding other things to do on Sunday mornings. Unrated patrol at a shining, a gallon has a strong pull.

Yet the golden rule that he who sows shall also reap, before me, is a thing of great

Pupil Of Liszt Dies In Scotland

Stirling, Feb. 21.

Frederick Lamond, pianist and composer, a pupil of Liszt, died today in a nursing home here, less than a month after his 80th birthday.

Lamond gave his first recital in Berlin in 1885 and afterwards played in most countries in the world. Lamond was noted for the monster pianoforte recitals given by him.

He once gave a series of seven concerts ranging from the earliest composers to the most recent ultra-modern masters and on more than one occasion played the whole of Beethoven's 32 sonatas in six recitals.—Reuter.

BENES RESISTS PRESSURE

Refuses To Accept Resignations Of Anti-Communist Ministers

Coalition Cabinet To Continue

Prague, Feb. 21. President Eduard Benes, ailing and tired, continued to hold the Czechoslovak Government together tonight by resisting Communist pressure. He told the Communists, from Premier Klement Gottwald down, that he would not allow anything but a Parliamentary government with parties now in the National Front continuing to be represented. He also declared he would not allow the Communists, the largest single party, to be excluded.

Dr. Benes thus refused to accept the resignations of the Ministers of three anti-Communist Parties in a deadlock over alleged Communist attempts to institute a police state and rejected Communist demands for a complete pro-Soviet Government.

His answer was made public after a series of conferences and a public rally at which the Communists voiced their demands. Then the President went to Lang, his country estate, to let the situation stew over the week end.

There, it was reported, he received Zdenek Fierlinger, former Premier and Left Wing Social Democrat leader. Fierlinger was removed from his Party chairmanship last November by the Party Congress because of his continued close alliance with the Communists.—Associated Press.

"Unthinkable"

London, Feb. 21. The Slovak Democratic members of the Slovak Board of Trustees (Provincial Cabinet) have been asked to resign by Dr. Husak, Chairman of the Board, in Prague radio said tonight.

Dr. Husak, the radio said, wrote to the Social Democrat members, calling for their resignation "in view of the resignation of the Slovak Democratic Ministers (in the Czechoslovak Cabinet) and in view of the entire attitude of that Party within the Government." "It is legally unthinkable that the Democratic Party, which went into opposition, should have executive power in Slovakia by being represented in the Board of Trustees,"—Reuter.

MOSCOW SUGGESTION

RIDICULED

(From Paul Scott Rankins, Reuter Correspondent)

Washington, Feb. 21. State Department officials today ridiculed suggestions put out by the Moscow Radio that the American Ambassador to Prague, Mr. Lawrence Steinhardt, had given the signal for the resignation of non-Communist Ministers from the Czech Cabinet.

Officials of the Department said that the United States Government was watching the political crisis in Prague closely and receiving reports from its Embassy there.

Concern is being expressed in official circles here at the latest developments in Prague, including the Communist Premier's allegations of a plot; his attempt to oust non-Communist members of the Czech Cabinet; and the arrival in Prague of the Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister.

More importance, however, is attached in Washington to the political integrity and independence of Czechoslovakia than to any other states for a number of reasons.

Firstly, there is a traditional connection between the United States and Czechoslovakia, dating back to the period of World War I when the foundations of the new democratic Czechoslovak state were laid in the United States itself, with the assistance of Woodrow Wilson, by the present President of Czechoslovakia, Dr. Eduard Benes, and the first President of that state, Dr. Thomas Masaryk, father of the present Foreign Minister.

Communist Pattern

Although the Communist pattern for subjection of Czechoslovakia appears to be the same as for other states, reaction here would be very much more sharp if a Communist coup d'état is completed.

Secondly, Czechoslovakia has been regarded as a bridge between the eastern and western nations of Europe, particularly in relation to the Marshall Plan.

Thirdly, Russian-Czechoslovak relations have been regarded as, in theory at least, a test of the thesis of Russian foreign policy that all Russia wants is to have friendly relations on its borders for reasons of security.

It is pointed out here that in both its political and economic international relations, Czechoslovakia has been extremely friendly towards Russia and, for example, at all international conferences, has consistently supported whatever point of view was put forward by the Russian Government.—Reuter.

Africans

Charged In Liverpool

Liverpool, Feb. 21. Holding blankets round tropical cotton clothes to ward off the Arctic cold which they unexpectedly encountered, three Africans appeared in court today accused of stowing away from Sierra Leone on the steamer "Tempele."

The prosecutor said that the ship was searched for stowaways before she sailed and some were found and put ashore. The three were later found in a chain locker containing hundreds of fathoms of chain. Had this been used, the revolving drum might easily have killed them.

The three men said that they were seamen and had left Freetown because there was no work for them.

The Chairman, sentencing each to 20 days imprisonment, remarked that Liverpool seamen were looking for jobs.—Reuter.

Heavy Shipment Of Food

Liverpool, Feb. 21. The 11,000 ton vessel "Haparang" will complete her maiden round-voyage at Liverpool on Monday by bringing some one of the largest consignments of food ever to leave New Zealand.

The "Haparang," which will run regularly between Liverpool and New Zealand, is chartered by a New Zealand shipping company.

Her present cargo includes nearly 5,000 tons of butter, 2,300 tons of cheese, 900 tons of frozen meat and 97 tons of milk.—Reuter.

American

Women

Killed

San Francisco, Feb. 21. The Chinese Communists today charged that government troops, not Communists, killed two American women missionaries and a Finnish doctor in Central China on January 7.

The three victims were Martha J. Anderson, of Minneapolis, Esther Victoria Nordlund, of Chicago, and Dr. Alexis Berg, of Helsinki, Finland.

At the time they were dragged from a bus 150 miles north of Hankow and shot down, fellow passengers said the "bandits" who killed them looked like Communist soldiers.

The Communist Radio broadcast today said that Communist military headquarters had made investigations and found that the killings were by troops of Ma Hsien-chi, chief of a Government county defence headquarters.

The broadcast, heard in San Francisco by the Associated Press, said that "to eradicate this evil" Communist troops on January 30 surrounded and "wiped out" Ma and his troops.—Associated Press.

PROFITS NEVER ERASE

U.S. FEARS

London, Feb. 21. The excitement about commodity price falls is partly artificial but psychologically deeper. Ever since 1929, the United States has been fearing another 1929 and profiting by its failure to arrive, but profit never erased fear, states a report in the "Economist" on the United States.

The falls have not yet spelt a depression and living costs are still high. Farmers are reported to be unhappy and labour watchful. The Federal Reserve Board is likely to relax its policy of tightening money.

The price fall has demonstrated that supplies in the United States are not so scarce as prices and isolationists Congressmen indicated. Those who argued that the Marshall Plan would exaggerate American scarcities and raise U. S. prices must find another argument.

Canada and Latin America may suffer, since they have counted on supplementing scarce United States supplies. Their new uncertainty is likely to last long and may make some nations less reluctant for international cooperation.

Prices are unlikely to regain their 1947 peaks in the near future, hence overseas countries will find it easier to buy from the United States than may find it harder to sell, especially if U. S. tariff sentiment relives.

"Superstition"

Meanwhile, gloominess is superstition rather than depression. So far it shows few signs of becoming national and never an international fact.

Elsewhere, the "Economist" says: "The United States Government commitment to support farm prices has assisted Chicago but some officials are of the opinion that $3 wheat will not cover and industrial interests in Congress are reminding the farm bloc that the present support levels could be very dangerous."

"Election year will continue to favour indecision but further restrictive monetary moves may be abandoned."

"The Senate vote to earmark $1,000,000,000 of this year's budgetary surplus for foreign relief will prevent money being used for deflationary redemption of U. S. Government debt but the Treasury itself would have been very cautious in restricting credit further."

"It still seems probable that more basic indication of recession will appear later."—Reuter.

IMF And Forward Sterling

New York, Feb. 21. Bankers are of the opinion that the International Monetary Fund will not urge Britain to support forward sterling. The sharp drop in forward sterling last week and its failure to recover this week caused some discussion of the possibility of an International Monetary Fund move in view of the 12 cent discount on three months forward sterling, which equals a 12 per cent per annum discount.

Under the Bretton Woods agreement, IMF members undertake to prevent fluctuations exceeding one per cent in their spot currencies but for forward rates, the IMF merely specifies that variations from spot rates shall not be unreasonable and no occasion for defining the word unreasonable has yet arisen.

Bankers are of the opinion that IMF action is unlikely because the turnover in spot sterling has dwindled while the turnover in forward sterling has dwindled even more — to estimatedly only about £10,000 daily. — Reuter.

Detroit, Feb. 22. Ford Motor Company announced its engineers have developed an automobile radiator fan that operates only when needed. Operation and speed of the fan are controlled by a thermostat in the radiator nose. — Associated Press.

The M/V "LEISE MAERSK" having arrived from New York and Ports of call. Consignees of Cargo are hereby notified that their goods are being landed and placed at their risk into the Hong Kong & Kowloon Wharf & Godown Company's godowns at Kowloon, where delivery may be obtained as soon as the goods are landed.

Optional cargo will not be landed here, unless notice has been given 48 hours prior to vessel's arrival, but carried on from port to port to the final port of call to which the option extends.

No claims will be admitted after the Goods have left the Godowns, and all goods remaining undelivered after the 23rd February, 1948, will be subject to rent.

All broken, chafed, and damaged Goods are to be left in the Godowns, where they will be examined on 27th February, 1948, at 10 a.m. by our Surveyors Messrs. Goddard & Douglas.

To comply with the General Bonded Warehouse Regulations, consignees must have a Revenue Officer in attendance when damaged dutiable goods are examined.

All claims must reach us before the 22nd March 1948, or they will not be recognized.

No Insurance will be effected.

JEBSEN & CO., Agents

Hongkong, 22nd Feb. 1948.

Washington, Feb. 21. The United States Agriculture Department survey of the world rice situation released today estimated the 1947-48 August to July world rice crop at 96 per cent of the pre-war average but said that despite the rise in production supplies for export were only about 3,000,000 of milled rice compared with the pre-war average of 8,800,000 tons.

Exports last year were estimated at 2,500,000 tons.

The world rice harvest for 1947-48 was estimated at 7,100,000,000 bushels of rough rice compared to 6,950,000,000 in 1946-47 and the 1935-40 average of 7,400,000,000 bushels.

Production is recovering to some extent in the war-affected countries of Asia and most of the increase in 1947-48 is in that area.

In Europe, a record acreage was planted and production slightly exceeds the pre-war average. The crop in North America and Africa rose above the high levels of last year.

Decreased production is possible in South America, where planting is about completed. Brazil's acreage is five per cent less and production may be six per cent below last season's crop.

The Agriculture Department estimated the Asiatic 1947-48 production of rice at 6,000,000,000 bushels compared to 6,500,000,000 the year before and 7,100,000,000 bushels pre-war. Some increase occurred in Burma, China, Formosa, Korea, the Philippines, Siam and the Malay Union.

The crop was slightly smaller in Japan and present prospects indicate India's production will be below that of last year.

U.S. Production

United States rice production in the past six years averaged 37 per cent above the 1936-39 pre-war average with a record of 73,800,000 bushels in 1946-47. This was only one per cent

U.S. Buying Rice Again

Washington, Feb. 21. The U.S. Government is buying rice again after 10 days of watching an uncertain market.

F. D. Entenmille, of the Production and Marketing Administration Grain Board said orders were sent out for "a normal week's purchases" about 60,000 bags.

He said the rice must be sold to the U.S. Government immediately. He said the supply is needed for China relief. — Associated Press.

World Production But Exports of 28,200,000 Bushels were Significant in View of the World Deficit

"In view of the world situation it is fairly certain requirements against the United States 1948 supplies will exceed our present production capacity," said the survey.

Brazil, Ecuador and British Guiana are the chief South American rice producers. Brazil's prospective exports in 1948 are estimated at 230,000 short tons against the five-year pre-war average of 42,000. Ecuador's prospective exports for 1948 are estimated at 65,000 short tons against a 13,000 pre-war annual average. — United Press.

Palestine Outside Sterling Area

London, Feb. 21. Britain cut Palestine off from the Pound Sterling on Saturday night in a move preparatory to quitting her mandate on May 15. A Treasury announcement said Palestine would be excluded from the Sterling financial area, effective on Sunday, and Palestine's Sterling balances would be blocked temporarily.

Trans-Jordan has informed the British Government, however, that "it intends to make arrangements enabling it to return to the Sterling area," the announcement said.

The Treasury said the step was taken because "thorough and comprehensive exchange control" will be lacking when Britain gives up her mandate, and it was desired to prevent leakages during the period of British troop withdrawal. — Associated Press.
